BOSTON.

On Sunday afternoon, February 29th, at 4 o'clock, in the Parish House Hall, the lay readers, the choir girls and a few friends, gave a pageant representing several Bible scenes and several parables. The minister opened the pageant with a part of the evening prayer service, the pageant then followed. It was truly very beautiful, not only in presentation but also in costumes, and every one tried so hard to make it a success that they were pleased when at its close every one expressed their enjoyment of it.

On Thursday evening, at nine o'clock, Rev. Mr. Kent, of St. Ann's Church, New York City preached a Lenten Service to the deaf at Trinity Church. There were between fifty and seventy-five people present, and everybody was pleased with the sermon, though everyone did not understand the sign language, they say it is a pleasure to just sit and watch Mr. Kent in his gracefulness in delivering signs.

On Thursday, March 25th, there will be a Lenten gathering in the basement room of the Parish House in the evening, a cafeteria supper will be served from 6 to 7 P.M., and later the minister will read the new Testament story of the Annunciation, and Mr. Frisbee will tell the story of an old Testament ancestor of Jesus Christ, and Mr. George A. Holmes the story of Belshazzar's Feast.

On Washington's Birthday every body trooped up to the "Home." The place was packed, some even had to sit on stairs for lack of room. Many people came from as far away as Lawrence, Mass., one man from Hartford, and another from Bel fast, Me., just to spend the day with us. Admission was 15 cents. Mrs. Peetean was in charge of the supper, which was cafeteria style, and which brought a profit of forty dollars. Games of all kinds were played, and at 8.30, Mrs. Clark rendered "America," in the sign language, after which Miss G. Smith signed a poem on Wash- ington.

Mr. Aaron Bravitz then told us the story his struggle to get out of Russia during the war; how he was smuggled into the homes of friends, and how he finally managed to board a boat and land at Ellis Isl- and. Mr. Bravitz is a very smart, modest young fellow, who can read and write three languages, but he says that if he is able to master the sign language he will feel more sat- isfied.

The members of the Horace Mann Benevolent Association wish to announce to their many friends that an entertainment of a social nature, including a farce play under the direction of Harry B. Dickerson, and a social dance, will be held at Huntington Chambers Hall, 30 Huntington Avenue, Boston, on Saturday evening, April 10th, 1920, from 7:30 to 12 P.M. Admission, 55 cents.

Mr. Charles Wickens, of Wol- laston, died at the Quincy City Hos- pital, on February 13th, from pneu- monia. Mr. Wickens was an artist in the employ of the Boston Post. He is survived by his wife and five normal children, the eldest a boy of 16. Mr. Wickens was born in Mon- treal, where he attended the McKay Institution for the Deaf. He was a member of the Fraternal Society the Deaf.

Mr. George H. Mooney, of South Boston, succumbed to pneumonia on February 27th. Funeral services was held from "The Gate of Heaven" Church. Interment was at Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Mr. H. Viditto, of Everett, is back with us again, after having been confined to his home for three weeks suffering from shingles.

An effort is being made to orga- nize a branch of the Camp Fire Girls among the deaf of Boston. Any girl over twelve years of age, who wishes to join, please write to Mrs. Lottie Clark, of 26 Williams Street, Dorchester, Mass. A party of some kind will be held at the Home on March 17th, with Miss Fanny Lake- man in charge.

On February 20th, a whist party will be held at the home of Mrs. Wood, of Dorchester, with Mr. Arthur Woods, of Cambridge, in charge. Proceeds for church build- ing fund.

Miss Marion Awde is back with us again, after having spent ten days in the Frost Hospital, Chelsea, under- going a serious operation on her throat.

G. SMITH.

Max Cohen's Adventure.

Last summer our enterprising young military instructor, Max Cohen, spent several weeks with Dr. Smith on the latter's farm in Hub- bard County, studying agriculture in the rough, and practising it a little. One day at dinner he proposed to walk to Akeley, a town seven miles away, to do some shop- ping. Dr. Smith rowed him across the lake, set him on the right road, and advised him to stop at the house of Mr. Wolff, two miles fur- ther on, and get additional direc- tions to the town. The afternoon passed away, supper time came, and Max had not returned. His friends wondered what had hap- pened. Could he have found the feminine attractions in Akeley so strong that he could not tear him- self away? But Dr. Smith, who knew the country, surmised that proved to be truth, that Max had lost his bearings. About nine o'clock in the evening a figure was seen on the other side of the lake waving arms to attract attention. Dr. Smith went over in the boat and brought the wanderer back to the fold. He related his ad- ventures. He had arrived at the Wolff house all right, but "nobody home." He went further and found a woman at a house, but she could not write, and he could not make her understand what he want- ed. He tried one road and then another for a long time. Finally he saw a man picking raspberries by the side of the road. Max asked him in writing for the road to Akeley. The man was very oblig- ing, and drew a diagram of the road with all its turnings and twist- ings, supplementing it with ges- tures. Reinforced by these in- structions and the diagram, Max went hopefully, but wearily, on his way, and arrived at Akeley about six o'clock, did his errands, and came back. The humorous part of the incident is that the berry picker was no other than Mr. Wolff. Each supposed the other to be a hearing man, and it is amusing to think of two deaf men conversing by writing and natural gestures, when, had they known the truth, they could have conversed merrily by means of the good old sign lan- guage.—Minnesota Companion.

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Henderson was celebrated at their residence in De- troit on Sunday, January 25th, by a number of friends.

A number of presents appropriate to the occasion were received by the couple, and each one present received a small booklet as a souvenir of the day. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. McMelty, Mr. and Mrs. McMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Polk, Mr. and Mrs. R. Huhn, Mr. and Mrs. Menzie, Mr. and Mrs. B. Dahn, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. McLachlan, Mrs. L. Walker, Mrs. A. Gillespie, Mrs. F. McMahon, Mrs. V. Bassett, Mrs. A. Schneider, the Misses V. Bovi- ack, E. Yates, M. Betzler, P. Born, M. Stark, A. Williams, Carrie Hirsch, and Messrs. J. Wolski, A. Betzler, W. Carl, F. Polk, F. Ryan, C. R. Barnett, R. Hoel, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Wilson.

From the Convention City

Ho for the greatest convention in the history of the old N. A. D., August 9th to 14th, inclusive, at Detroit, the wonder city of the country! Perhaps we seem a little late in waking up in starting to whoop her up, but watch our smoke from now on. It isn't a case of somnolence, but of keeping still and sawing wood. It's full time to begin making a noise now, though.

But the greatest ever? Yes, we say it and believe it. Why not? There are many excellent grounds for such a claim; few if any reasons to be advanced against it.

First and chief is, of course, our location. Detroit is practically the center of one of the most productive, prosperous, and thickly settled sec- tions of our country, the great Mid- West, from which we may very naturally expect to draw a record- smashing crowd. Then, as regards the mass of the country's population, it is located much like the pivot of a fan, with "the edges taking in the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts and the Rockies and all betwixt and between—the pivot, by the way, being in one of the coolest and most deligh- tful regions of the country during the scorching heat of summer, the re- sort-land of the Great Lakes; and by this point we may naturally ex- pect all who are financially and otherwise able to flock with eager- ness.

As for our brethren beyond the mountains and on the far Pacific Coast, we are not as near them as we might be; yet they are the heirs of pioneers and Forty-niners, and neither distance nor anything else will daunt them if they set their hearts on an object, and we trust many of them will set their hearts on attending this greatest of our conventions.

But while we may expect, and do hope for a goodly attendance from down East, down South, and from out the far West, we are naturally counting most on our own great section to back up our claims. We don't know just how many deaf our Detroit has in her million of population, but over two hundred of them are in the N. A. D. fold, a number rarely reached or passed by any whole State. The rest of the State will turn out a big crowd, too. Then there is Akron, with, it is said, her seven hundred deaf workers, and Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus, Cin- cinnati, Indianapolis and other large centers of deaf population, with their teeming country-sides. Chic- ago, with her thousands, should send her hundreds. Just across the west- ward lake, is quiet, but thriving, Wis- consin. And Minnesota, Iowa, and Missouri, and the rest are within easy reach.

So, why not the greatest ever, especially when it is Detroit the Dy- namic that beckons? Detroit, the gateway to summer pleasures mani- fold? Some there may be who will come to see how Detroit does things, or with the object of staying and advancing their fortunes, where the dollars are to be picked off by the hours. A favored few there may be who will come with the purpose of going farther into our wonderful resort country, of seeking the bosom of Mother Nature for their summer holidays, for surcease from the year's trials. To each and all is extended a hearty welcome and a promise of a good time.

We may confidently expect a good and great attendance, because we are prepared to offer one the best pro- grams of pleasure ever presented, in- cluding water trips and land trips such as are rarely enjoyed. The entertainment fund already exceeds any ever before raised, and it is growing by leaps and bounds—to use a rather hackneyed expression.

We may expect many to come most worthily to attend the conven- tion, because business of very great importance to the Association and to the deaf of the country will come before it for discussion and action.

An outline of the Convention features and a tentative program will soon be issued, we understand, by the Program Committee. We have reason to feel convinced from advance notices that it will be one of the best balanced programs ever presented. Business and pleasure about equally divided, and just en- ough of both.

None need stay away for fear of lack of accommodations or too high cost—and this is not hot air. Though Detroit, like a fast-growing boy, is fairly bursting off its buttons all the time, it has been able to care adequately for each and all of its three hundred odd conventions of the year, with sometimes two or three big conventions at the same time, and with several thousand frequently attending a single gather- ing, in some way or other room has always been found for all. The great "Convention City" has a most efficient Convention Bureau, connected with the Board of Com- merce, and they have never yet been fazed. Besides plenty of hosteleries of the largest size, there is any number of decent smaller hotels and rooming houses available in private homes. Our Housing Com- mittee is preparing for accommoda- tions in the homes of the deaf of the city in emergency, but such em- ergencies are altogether unlikely to arise.

Some of our people, and we under- stand, those to whom it does not much matter except as a "matter of principle," have been sending in in- quiries, showing fear that the sky would be the limit with regard to rooms and board. We can assure all who expect and wish to come that, except in a few exclusive places, room rates are very reasonable, in fact, low, considering the times. The great Hotel Statler, our convention head- quarters, has plenty of rooms to fit modest purses. And the same is true of that and most eating places.

This should be quantum suff for an opener. With the liberal space allowance loyal, good-hearted Editor Hodgson will surely grant, we ask you, dear readers all, to keep an eye on the Convention Column.

Mr. Lee Richman won a prize for answering correctly, the greatest number of questions in a St. Valentine's contest. Mr. Hock- ley also won a prize for finding the largest number of red paper hearts in the keyhole. Little Miss Say- lor, daughter of the hosts, won a prize for giving the nearest correct answer for the number of beans contained in a glass jar. Follow- ing the contests, delicious refresh- ments were served, after which the guests departed for their respective homes.

Two Famous Deaf-Mute Lawyers

The death of Duncan McLellan at his home in Trenton, on Feb. 4th, 1920, and that of his brother, Archibald, some years ago, put an end to the career of two brilliant deaf-mute lawyers. They were brothers and received their education in Scotland, from which country they emigrated and set up a business office in Belle- ville in the seventies. For some years they did a successful business in Belleville, being assisted by their hearing sister, but when that lady died their business failed and they moved to other parts. These two brothers were frequent visitors at the School for the Deaf. Duncan, the younger one, could with skill dance what is known as the sword dance, by crossing two swords.—F. E. Mason, in the Canadian.

Fort Smith, Ark

DALLAS, TEXAS.

Miss Mabel McDaniel, Gallaudet ex-'22, has returned to Dallas, and is once more on the job, after a two weeks' vacation spent with the home folks in Oklahoma.

Misses Jess Thomason, and Ollie Wilkerson, two of the other young ladies, are also back at work after two weeks spent in Louisiana and Oklahoma, respectively. Of course, there were two young men in Dallas that looked mighty glum during the absence of these two young ladies, but now that they are back, the glad smile is going the rounds once more.

The Ft. Worth Division of the N. F. S. D. gave a Mask Ball on the night of February 21st, and a good crowd of Dallasites went over to Cowtown for the fun. Among those present were. Mr. and Mrs. Briscoe Kolp, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Barnes and daughter, Misses Irene Neal, Bessie Russell, and Messrs. W. K. Gibson, T. E. Hill, Roy Orr, C. Talbot, Fee Griggs, Ernest Barnes, O. Freeman and Raymond Payne.

Talking about Ft. Worth, that place is about the slowest and dead- est town in the entire country. On Saturday night, the writer waited for a car sixty minutes, and finally arrived at the Mask Ball about two hours late, thanks to Cowville's fast car service, and that isn't all the joy in life over there either, because on the following day, which was Sun- day, Ft. Worth took a hand at imitating the famous Blue Sky Laws of Virginia, and not a single show was open, neither could a fellow get a box of candy or a drink of anything except H²O, which was entirely too much, so we hit the trail back to a real city, Dallas, the best lil' place on earth, and then some.

"Cracker" Jack Miller was among those present at the Frat Ball in Ft. Worth. He has grown quite a lot since the writer last saw him, and it was with quite a little guessing that he finally placed Jack. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Harrison, of Whitesboro, Texas, were there also. The Lone Star Literary Society held its regular meeting on Sat- urday night, at the regular meeting place, the roll call finding quite a good many absent. But as the night was unusually bad, it can be seen why so few were there, but those who were not there missed a treat, for the meeting was well worth attending.

Mr. Ben Allison made a remark- able good lecture on the "Life and Characteristics of Abraham Lincoln." You know Al, he is there with the goods every time.

The Dialogue "Much Ado About Nothing" was postponed, on account of the illness of Miss Thomason, one of the principals.

Debate: "Resolved, That Labor of a Housewife is more burdensome than that of a Husband." Miss Ollie Wilkerson and Mr. C. Talbot, who had the affirmative side, had quite a good argument, but Miss L. Neal and Mr. Leonard King, who were on the Negative side, had even better arguments; but the judges thought otherwise and awarded the decision to the Affir- mative, by 2 to 1 vote. The Judges were Mrs. Allison, and Messrs. Hill and Kolp.

Mrs. Briscoe Kolp, as Critic, gave the whole gang a good raking over the coals, which to our way of thinking was just what they needed. "Feededleddo" Griggs continues to put on weight as if he were a reg- ular Blimp just getting a good supply of gas. We all want to know where he gets the stuff anyhow. Some of us could use a nip now and then.

Fifteen Rabs! and a Ziz, Boom Bang, for V. E. O. the new Akron correspondent. We sure did feel good after taking a run down that col. Who be he, anyhow? We can't recollect any such animal that made his bunk in Akron, up to last December 1st. A newcomer, no doubt, but just the same he can write, and 'ats all we want, some body to write for the JOURNAL from Akron. See if you can't keep it steady, Boy, or may be its a She. We dunno.

Miss Edna Washington, who is the principal of the local day school for the deaf, has two Soldier Lads who have lost their hearing comple-

ly. They are studying lip-reading with her, and up until a few days ago, when the writer became ac- quainted with them, they seemed to take life very Blue, but after attend- ing the Literary Society Meeting and the Sunday School classes, they have taken a new lease on life and are learning the manual alphabet with a rush, and will soon be just as happy as they could wish to be.

We are still wondering what's happened to "Fighting" Jimmie Meagher.

Well, so long. At's all I got on my mind tonight. Got to go see a show. Good luck to everybody.

THE Y-BOY!!

Leap Year Party.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Malone were pleasantly surprised at their party on Saturday evening, February 21st, 1920, when Mr. John Martin presented them with eleven beautiful pieces of silver-ware.

Games and dancing were enjoy- ed. At twelve o'clock refreshments were served, after which the party broke up. Every body said they had a most pleasant time.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Malone, and four chil- dren, Mr. John Martin and Miss Olive Olson, Mr. Raymond A. Costello, Mr. Walter J. Hall and Miss Grace Costello, Mr. George McMahon and Miss Catherine Plunkett, Mr. Albert J. Malone and Miss Florence McNamara, Mr. John Morello and Miss Mary Wise- man, Mr. Frank Boak and Mrs. F. C. Caligine, Mr. George Schott and Miss Anna Liferock, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bouch, Mr. Mathew De Evo, Mr. Rosline La Curto, Mr. Felix St-efan, Mr. John Kartawich, Mr. Thomas Kelleher, Mr. Carl Schann- berg, Mr. Moses Radawsky and Mr. John Amhardt, of Poughkeep- sie, N. Y.

Among those who won prizes in the games were: Miss Grace Costello, Mr. George McMahon, Mr. John Kartawich, Miss Mary Wiseman, Mr. Albert J. Malone, Mr. George Schott, Miss Agnes Costello, Miss Olive Olson, Mr. Rosaline La Curto, Miss Annie Liferock and Mr. Felix Steffan.

Messrs. John Martin and Ray- mond A. Malone were the enter- tainers of the evening, and judging by the pleased look of the guests, it is a safe bet they succeeded in pleasing all.

MEETING OF THE GOODYEAR SILENTS WITH SUPT. JONES

On February 5, 1920, Mr. J. W. Jones, Superintendent of the School for the Deaf, Columbus, Ohio, was pleased to meet so many of the deaf, and especially so many of his form- er pupils. He spoke to them in a fatherly way about a number of things he thought might help them.

First, he reminded them of the great service the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company has done to the deaf generally by giving them such general employment, thus demon- strating to the world that the deaf can do almost any kind of work as successfully as hearing people. Until Goodyear gave this general employment to the deaf, the world believed that their sphere of use- fulness was very limited. No amount of argument the friends of the deaf could put forth would convince the people of the error. But Goodyear has demonstrated it, and now manufacturers of all kinds are appealing to the Schools for Deaf and for their large pupils to work for them.

Mr. Jones had a conversation with both President Seiberling and Vice-President Seiberling, of the Goodyear Company. He learned that these two distinguished men were more than pleased with the work of the deaf. In fact, they were proud of the deaf colony. Mr. C. W. Seiberling, Vice-President, said that out of eight hundred to one thousand deaf persons who had worked for them, only two or three had proven themselves unworthy. This was a very small percenta- e, less than would be expected in the best society of hearing people. This report pleased Mr. Jones very much.

He cautioned the deaf to save their money, telling them that every dollar saved now would purchase, two times as much in a few years. History always repeats itself, and history tells us that depressions in business always follow periods of unexampled prosperity following wars. When this depression comes, the deaf who have put away their money will be surprised at their riches. For prices will fall, real estate values will tumble, and the money the deaf then have, will put them on Easy Street for life. Be- sides, when that time comes their earning capacity will only be a fraction of what it is now, because employment will be scarcer. He congratulated the deaf on the large wages they were receiving and the satisfactory services they were ren- dering. But if they squandered all of their money, their large wages will have amounted to nothing to them. It is only those who save something that are really bene- fitted.

But he reminded them that he did not wish to leave the impression that money was the all-important thing. A good life is better. A good mind in a healthy body and a good character make the individual really happy. Such a person will really earn money and take better care of it than any other kind of person.

The Flying Squadron, benevolen- ty provided for by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, offers every opportunity to the deaf to continue their education. He ex- pressed the hope that they would avail themselves of this wonderful opportunity to increase their educa- tion and their usefulness in life. He reminded them that the schools for the deaf in all parts of the United States were interested in them as representatives of these schools, and are glad to know that they are doing so well.

All glory to the Goodyear Com- pany for doing for the deaf what the schools could not do; and all honor to the deaf who meet the ex- pectations of this great company in fulfilling all their obligations.

PITTSBURGH.

The Pittsburgh Silent Athletic Association Five had an exciting contest with the Edgewood School Basketball Team, February 28th, and came out with flying colors. The school team, however, did not take the defeat to heart, as owing to sickness and injuries only one of the regular team played with the scrubs, but even they put up a gritty game and had nothing to be ashamed of.

Homer Mitchel and John Bond came down from Washington on a recent Sunday and visited at the school. They have good positions at the tin-plate mill of Washington, and are very well satisfied with their job, and expect to hold it down as long as present conditions remain.

Mr. John Davis, formerly of Philadelphia, has gone to Washington also, and secured a good paying position at the tube mill there. He had been employed at a restaurant in Wilkinsburg for some time previous. He considered $5.50 a day at the mill much better work, though harder.

The Silent Athletic Association engaged Professor E. D. Read to entertain them and their friends with a lecture February 28th, but owing to illness he was unable to do so. The meeting resolved itself into a "talkfest," and there were a number of good stories told that entertained the large company present. Rev. Mr. Smielau was present and gave one of his characteristic short talks. Rev. Smielau also preached at Trinity the following Sunday to a good-sized audience.

Mr. Charles Fritzsche, having had to give up his work as cooper, owing to the closing of the breweries, went to Akron, and secured work at the Firestone Tire Factory, and has decided to stay. It was reported that Mrs. Fritzsche was going on to be with her husband, although they can get no house until the 1st of May. This Akron is robbing Pittsburgh of some of her most popular deaf people.

March 4th was a red letter day for our genial friend, H. Bardes, not only because it happened to be his natal day, but because some of his friends remembered it, and gave him the surprise of his life by quietly assembling, all unbeknownst to him, and depositing in his halliwick a number of useful or enjoyable articles to attest their sincere regard for him. And to be truthful, he deserved the demonstration. Among the gifts donated were four separate packages of pennies (how many we are not permitted to state), brier pipe and jar of fine cut, a number of good and long smokes, four-in-hand tie, box of handkerchiefs, dress shirt, socks galore, linen collar and tie, fountain pen, cash, substantial check, and all topped with a fragrant bouquet of cut flowers. Specifiying and serving of delicious refreshments filled up the time until a late hour. Mrs. Bardes and her assistants made the occasion so delightful 'twill long be remembered. Among those gathered to show their regards were: Mr. and Mrs. John Friend, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Leitner, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Sawhill, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bardes, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Rols-house, Mr. and Mrs. George Bardes, Mrs. Rose Keith, Miss Constance Blackhall, Frank Blackhall, J. C. Taylor, Geo. Voegel, S. Allen, J. C. Craig, F. R. Gray, D. Irvin, G. M. Tegardan.

Miss Susan Campbell reports that Mr. John J. Walsh and Miss Theresa Gibson, both of Detroit, will soon be united in holy wedlock, and on their honeymoon will be her guests for a few days. Miss Gibson is a sister of Thomas Gibson, of Wilkinsburg, and a graduate of the Edgewood School. The stork has visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Laughlin and left to their care a daughter, March 8th. Congratulations are extended.

G. M. T.

GALLAUDET COLLEGE.

After a topsy-turvy week both sections of Gallaudet have once more assumed a normal course of existence. Reason? Well, the Leap Year Dance has come and gone. The evening of the fifth saw every body headed for Chapel Hall, where convention and rules of good usage were horribly outraged right under the eyes of the Faculty chaperons. Yet there is nothing shocking about it all; it's Leap Year.

The Co-eds invited their male partners; they asked for the dances; they sent their partners flowers; and mere man, in his place, was all dolled up in lace, with a vivid-colored hair ribbon, and all the other outward trappings of feminine make-up. Everything was in the hands of the gentler sex; yes, everything save the work of scrubbing the floor of the Men's Refectory, where the Dance was held. They balked at such menial labor, and as a result it was performed by a few of the gallant volunteers from College Hall. But what they did they did well, and all had a grand time. The Committee in charge of the affair was:

Committee—Eunice Post, '20 (Chairman), Isabelle Toner, '21, Gertrude Lewis, '22, Lenore Bible, '23, Helen Moss, '23.

The patrons of the evening were—Mr. Charles R. Ely, Mr. Isaac Allison, Mr. Irving S. Fufeld. Michael Lapides, '13, of Connecticut, now on a pleasure tour of the south, steered himself into the port of his younger days long enough to see how things were going on. Prof. Teddy Hughes, a classmate and friend, had a monopoly on the visitor's time, but left him on Sunday evening long enough to give him a chance to tell of the good old days of yore.

Aronovitz, '23, who, as stated in these columns some time ago, went home to Kentucky to be at the bedside of his mother, who was believed to be on the point of death, is back on the Green again. He is receiving congratulations on the recovery of his mother.

The Saturday Night Dramatic Club gave its yearly performance on the evening of March 6th, with a program containing "Don Pasquale," a comedy in three acts, and "Carmen-Up-To-Date," a ludicrous rendition of the famous "Carmen." On this night the much-abused organization regained much of the prestige it lost in former years, as the performance given by the College Hall thespians was by far the best rendered in many years; in fact, some who have had the opportunity to be present at the performances given in the past ten years, were quick in voicing their opinion that the latest performances outdid all others. About one hundred and twenty-five were present, including many outside of Kendall Green. The cast of characters were:

Don Pasquale . . . Oscar D. Guire, '21
Ernesto, his nephew . . . George C. Kannapell, '21
Dr. Malatesta . . . Edward W. Harmon, '21
Norina . . . James M. Orman, '23
Charles, nephew of Dr. Malatesta . . . Tolvo Lindholm, '23
Valet to Don Pasquale . . . Charles P. Smoak, P. C.
Maid to Norina . . . John F. Gotthelf, P. C.

The following is a brief description of the play:

Don Pasquale, a crusty old bachelor, resolved upon marriage to effect the disinheritation of Ernesto and prevent the latter's marriage to Norina, a bewitching young widow. Dr. Malatesta, a trusted friend of all parties, desired to aid the young couple. He devised a clever plan to frustrate Don Pasquale's desire, while seeming to further it. Having been entrusted by Don Pasquale with the task of finding a bride, the Doctor introduced Norina as Sophronia, his sister, and a mock marriage was performed. Norina then proceeded to drive Don Pasquale mad with her insolence and extravagance, while the stratagem of deception ran smoothly to the end.

"Carmen-Up-To-Date" does not have to concede anything to the feature play of the evening, for, though requiring less histrionic skill on account of its ludicrous nature, the object the Play Committee had set their eyes was fully achieved. The play was a side-splitting farce from beginning to end as "Jose" and "The Escamillo" matched wits in pursuit of Carmen's heart. The dramatic personae in this instance was.

Any Carmen . . . Vern Barnett, '20
Any Jose . . . Fred Lee, P. C.
Any Escamillo . . . Jacob Cohen, '23
Assisted by Ted Griffing and Anton Netusil, P. C.

Time—Any Time. Place—Any Place in Spain.

On Friday evening, March 13th, Professor Skyberg delivered "The Vocational Training of Disabled Soldiers." The lecture was supplemented with motion pictures showing the wonderful strides that have been made by the United States government in the work of rehabilitation.

The Sunday afternoon services, on March 14th, were conducted by Rev. Mr. Oliver Whildin, of Baltimore, Maryland.

The annual banquet of the Athletic Association will be held in the Men's refectory on Saturday, March 20th. The usual quota of Alumni and Faculty interested in College athletics are looked for at the affair, with a little additional interest in the possible presence of B. M. Schowe, '18, who is expected to speak on the tennis trophy offered to the College by the Firestone Company of Akron, O.

Gallaudet's reappearance in intercollegiate track athletics has not been as successful as it was hoped. Entered in the three-cornered relay race with Catholic University and George Washington University, at the former's new gymnasium at Brookland, on Saturday, March 13th, the Buff and Blue runners were outclassed from start to finish and came home in the wake of the two other institutions. The men who represented Gallaudet, Matthew Haley, Harmon, and Randall, had only a limited amount of preliminary work prior to this meet and were new to the board track, but their showing is not without promise. After the race Manager Davies said that he would enter the team in other South Atlantic intercollegiate meets, and also that he intended to give the other events in track and field competition a wider scope than has hitherto been offered the Buff and Blue squad. Gallaudet possesses some good pole vaulters, excellent men in the dashes, and two first class milers, but none of these were entered in the Catholic University games.

As was feared, the basketball team's trip to Ohio was called off. In last week's column we stated that Goodyear was forced to transfer the game to the Silent five, but the latter could not play on the thirteenth because of a previous engagement. However, "Bum" Schowe of the Firestone Company did not let the contest fall through without putting up a fight for it. Following Goodyear's announcement of the cancellation, Schowe wired that Firestone would pay all expenses, and the team was about to pack up for the trip when another telegram announced that Firestone had reconsidered its original proposition because of the large expense outlay, which they did not think they could earn through gate receipts with the game scheduled for a Monday. So Gallaudet's basketball season has been officially announced as ending on March 2d.

It appears that the hold of old scenes and friendships was too strong for Michael Lapides, '13, and instead of leaving the Green as early as he planned, he remained almost a week longer. Being something of a conversationalist, he was the magnet to which the students were attracted in the reading room. Before he left he was entertained by the Kappa Gamma, Fraternity. Three other alumni brethren, Roy J. Stewart, '89, Prof. Hughes, '13, and Robey Burns, '19, were also present at the Fraternity entertainment.

With the Easter holidays fast approaching and the inability of the Committee to procure tents, there was a lot of guessing as to whether or not the annual week at Great Falls, Virginia, would have to be abandoned. The Committee spent two weeks in a futile search for tents to rent. The only hope for the affair seemed to rest with the purchase of the paraphernalia by the College, but the Committee itself solved the problem by an appeal to the various College organizations for a loan of the sum necessary for their purchase. This was easily raised and now, the student body of the next five years will rest assured of their Camp Week, as far as tents are concerned.

Fremont Gordon Bristol, P. C., of Wisconsin, has shaken off the dust of Kendall Green and left for his home. Dissatisfaction with the slow progress he had been making in his studies was given as the cause of his resignation.

The Reserve basketball team made a trip to the Maryland State School at Frederick, Md., on March 12th, in an effort to repeat their victory of last month, but this time the Maryland boys turned the tables on them. Defeat has always been a bitter pill for the Reserves to swallow, but in this case the pill appears to have been coated with much sweetness, for the Buff and Blue boys had nothing but praise for the way Supt. Bjorlee and his boys treated them. The score was 33 to 23.

Superior physical advantages on the part of the visitors spelt defeat for the Gallaudet Co-eds in their game with the sextet from George Washington University on March 13. From the start to the end of the contest the Buff and Blue girls trailed behind, and the only redeeming feature of their playing was the never-say-die spirit they showed throughout.

The playing of the Misses Flenner, F. Lewis and G. Lewis, was the feature of the evening's fray.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reide, 1538 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Katherine B. Scott, wife of Elmer E. Scott, passed suddenly away on Friday morning, February 27th, after an illness of only about six days. The news of her death created a greater shock among her friends here, and those who knew her, than they had felt for a long time. Few, if any, had learned of her sudden illness or thought that it would terminate so speedily in death. But she was stricken with lobular pneumonia, which in most cases ends fatally. She was scarcely in middle life, so that many mourn her untimely passing away.

Mrs. Scott was a graduate of the Mt. Airy School. In 1905, she was married to Elmer E. Scott, who came here from Pittsburgh, Pa. The couple have always made their home with Mrs. Scott's mother, happily married, but no children have been born to them. They had been anticipating to celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage next June, and, for this purpose, the interior of their home was recently remodeled and greatly improved. But man proposes and God disposes. The repeat of the marriage ceremony, which was to be the happiest feature of the anniversary, has been strangely thwarted by death.

With but an ordinary education, Mrs. Scott showed by her activity what one can do by proper effort. She had very considerable initiative, which, coupled with her activity, brought success to most of her efforts. As chairman of the ladies' committee under the local committee of arrangements of the 1918 convention of the National Fraternal Society of the Deaf, she proved her worth to an admirable degree. She was Supreme Lady of the Ladies of De P' Epe, which has councils in various cities; Grand Lady of St. Cecilia Council, No. 3, of this city; President of Atlanta Savings Club, which is run by ladies independent of any other body, and was active in Catholic activities here. She was prominent as a social leader in Philadelphia, and altogether her future seemed so full of promise, that her loss is sadly missed.

After making some calls about the city, Mrs. Scott took sick by contracting a cold. Her illness became aggravated by an attack of lobular pneumonia from which she rapidly succumbed after four days. Her whole illness covered about six days. Many friends called at the house on Monday evening, March 1st, to view the remains. She was laid out beautifully in a steel-grey couch casket with satin trimmings, dressed in a white silk evening dress, and surrounded by an elaborate and profuse floral display, the offering of friends and organizations, one of which was from her friends of All Souls' Church for the Deaf.

The funeral took place on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Solemn Requiem Mass was held in Corpus Christi Church, the Rev. Father Konba, of the Faculty of St. Joseph's College being celebrant, assisted by Rev. Father Shringel and Rev. Father Smith, curates of the church. Father Konba also accompanied the body to the cemetery to administer absolution at the grave. The pall bearers were all deaf friends of the deceased. They are as follows: Joseph Mayer, Jr., Joseph V. Donohue, Frank Duggan, John Nowacki, Joseph Tafe and John A. Roach.

Besides the husband and mother of Mrs. Scott, two brothers survive, to all of whom we extend sincere sympathy in their great bereavement.

A number of deaf people viewed the remains of Mrs. Washington Houston at her late home, No. 4811 Grismore Street, Frankfort, on Sunday evening, 29th of February. She was laid out nicely. Although past seventy-four years of age, her black hair and the few wrinkles on her face made her look much younger and like the good mother that she was. There were a number of floral offerings about the casket, and more came on Monday when the funeral was held, including one from All Souls' Church. The funeral took place at 2:30 P.M., Rev. C. O. Dantzer, Pastor of All Souls' Church for the Deaf, officiating. The pall bearers were Messrs. William McKinev, George T. Sanders, Edward Hackett, Frank Jahn, Isaac Allen and Frank Shaw—the last named being a hearing man. Interment was in North Cedar Hill Cemetery. Sincere sympathy is extended to the family in their great bereavement.

Philadelphia Division, No. 30, will have a St. Patrick's Social in the Grand Fraternity Building, 1626 Arch Street, on Saturday evening, March 20th.

Mr. James L. Patterson attended "The Order of Worship," on Washington's birthday anniversary, in Bethany Presbyterian Sunday School, 22d and Bainbridge Streets, and again the 62d anniversary of the Bethany School on February 26th. Both occasions were inspiring to him and he enjoyed attending them.

The regular monthly meeting of Philadelphia Division, No. 30, N

F. S. D., was held last Friday evening, March 5th. In spite of stormy weather, the attendance was large. When it was home-going time a furious, blinding storm was raging outside. It was almost impossible to venture out, because of the strong wind which blew people off their feet on the icy pavement. The corner of 17th and Arch Streets, on which stands the tall Bell Telephone building, with the Grand Fraternity building nearly opposite, is frequently spoken of in the papers as one of the worst "windy corners" in the city. As the storm showed no sign of tempering down, the pent-in Frats "buckled" up their clothes and braved the elements. As a result, many Frats now have stories to tell of the difficulty and discomfort they suffered on the way homeward from the storm and stalled trolley service. How Secretary Brady, who resides at Audubon, N. J., and Vice-President Stevens, whose home is in Merchantville, N. J., ever got home on that stormy night, is a mystery to us.

A moving picture exhibition will be given for the benefit of the Rectory Fund, at All Souls' Parish House, on Saturday evening, April 10th. Admission will be only fifteen cents.

A sure sign of the approach of Spring was seen in the appearance of Mr. Aaron Friederich at All Souls' last Sunday. Mr. Friederich has been keeping indoors most of the winter time as a precaution against another accident to his leg. We were glad to see him again.

Utica and Vicinity

William W. Chamberlain, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William M. Chamberlain, of Rome, and one of the best known harness men in the States of New York and New Jersey, passed away at his home in Utica on Monday night, January 4th, following an illness of a week, death being due to pneumonia. He was born in Marblehead, Mass., in 1864. At the age of 12 years, he went with his parents to Rome, where his father, who died in 1895, became a teacher and editor of the Deaf-Mutes' Register at the Rome School for the Deaf.

Sanford Adams, father of William Adams, a graduate of the Rome school for the deaf, and one of the best known and most esteemed citizens of Rome, died at his home in that city on Friday, February 13th. He was at his office as usual, but on his return home, he had a slight stroke from which he continued to grow worse till his death. He was president of S. Adams & Son's foundry. He was 83 years of age. He spent his whole life in Rome. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. E. Francis, of Iowa, and two sons, William and James, of Rome. The remains were placed in the receiving vault in Rome Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Drumm, of Herkimer, will have the sympathy of their friends in the loss they sustain by the death of their little son, John J., which occurred on Saturday, February 28th, after a brief illness with pneumonia. The body was placed in the receiving vault at St. Agnes' Cemetery in this city last Tuesday. Mrs. Drumm is confined to a hospital by illness. Her friends hope for her speedy recovery.

Thomas Harter, Frank Green and Mr. Marston, deaf boys, are the star players on the Woodworkers' basketball team in the Inter-department League of the Remington Arms Company of Iliou. That team leads in the league, winning eight and losing none up to this date. Green and Harter are by far the best point getters in the league thus far.

Rev. Herbert Merrill is now with his family in Washington, D. C., but will be in Utica on time to conduct services for the deaf on Sunday. It is expected that Mrs. Merrill will accompany him to this section, so as to choose a place for their future home. The deaf people here hope that Utica will suit Rev. and Mrs. Merrill to live in.

Dennis Costello and his two sisters, Mrs. Roger McGrath and Miss Julia Costello, of Rome, were callers on relatives here last Sunday. Duncan E. Fuller, who inherited half a million of dollars from his uncle, Dr. Robert Fuller, of New York, who died in Schenectady two months ago, has resigned his position as compositor on the Utica Herald Dispatch, and gave a swell banquet to the employees and members of that Company in Hotel Martin on Monday evening, March 1st, so ye scribe, a hootytype on that paper, enjoyed a grand time thereat.

Sympathy is extended to Robert Mayershoffer of this city in the death of his only brother, which occurred in Syracuse a short time ago. Heart trouble caused death.

Alfred Johnson, son of the late Edward P. Johnson, power boy, supervisor at the Rome School for the deaf, and who has been an efficient bookkeeper of the Glue Factory in Johnstown for several years, has been made superintendent of that factory. His promotion will be a source of gratification to his many deaf friends.

Albert Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Thomas, of Frankfort, was transferred with a considerable force of men from the Remington Typewriter factory of Iliou, to a big Flushing, L. I., factory last week. Willie, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, who has been holding a position in the Post Office in New York City, for the past year, after being honorably discharged from service in the Navy, has returned home to Frankfort, and secured a good job at the Xadell Company's in Utica, which manufactures tanks, etc.

Principal O. A. Betts recently presented the 45th annual report of the Rome School for the Deaf to the trustees. The report shows that there were 112 pupils in attendance last year. Mr. Betts said in part: There are a number of deaf children in the State who do not attend any school, and that this is to be regretted, due in the main to the fact of the inadequacy of the general education law to compel the attendance of all deaf children in some school, and the attractive wages offered by industries that tempt the older boys to leave school before they have completed their education, and the ignorance of the foreign population concerning the institutions for the deaf of the State. Mr. Betts urges the need of a general compulsory law that will reach every eligible deaf child in the State.

FLINT.

Two most enjoyable parties were given at Flint's Social Club during February—the first one a St. Valentine, on the 14th, and the other, on the 21st. At the St. Valentine party "500" was the game played. At its close dancing was indulged in with a great deal of vim by the younger set and kept up well past midnight. A little over thirteen "bucks" was the net proceeds. The club coffers was also enlarged by the sum of a little over $48 at the Washington's Birthday party. The club room was prettily decorated with narrow paper bunting of the national colors. The evening fairly flew, as the committee in charge kept every one on the go with a game after another in quick succession.

Lester Swindlehurst won the prize for guessing the number of pennies contained in a small bottle.

Earl H. Bowman, a denizen of North Carolina, who has been employed in the construction of houses for the Dupont firm in the northwest of this city, met with a painful accident one evening last week. As he stepped off a street car on his way home from downtown, an auto, speeding along at the rate of 30 miles an hour, struck him, throwing him forcibly on the frozen pavement. A driver in another car driving just behind saw the accident and took Mr. Bowen to the city hospital, where he received medical attention. A cut three inches long was found on his head, and he was not seriously hurt in any other way and was out very much alive the next day. Mr. Bowen was recently married to a young lady, whose name I did not find out, at Kalamazoo. Mr. Bowen has just obtained a situation at Marysville, a short distance from Port Huron, where a boom has just sprung up.

James K. Foran and Mrs. Samuel McCartney, two of the first pupils enrolled at the Michigan School for the Deaf, died in the latter part of January within three days of each other. Mr. Foran crossed the great divide on the 25th. Both of the deceased lived in the western part of Genesee County all their lives—in fact ever since they left school, about 1865. Mr. Foran owned a small farm seven miles from Flint. He exchanged it two years ago for another farm near Duffield. He leaves his wife to mourn his demise. They had no children.

Mrs. McCartney was seventy-seven years old. Heart failure was the cause of her demise. Her husband died three or four years ago.

The remains of both Mr. Foran and Mrs. McCartney were buried at Vernon.

Mr. Foran and Mrs. McCartney were regular attendants at the reunions at the Michigan School, hardly ever missing one since the Michigan Association was organized in 1887, until the reunion held last year, the state of their health not allowing them the pleasure.

The Flint Branch, N. A. D., held its March meeting in the club rooms last Saturday night, and was greatly enjoyed by all present. The drawing card was the lecture given by Mr. Thomas J. Allen, his subject being "Bolshevism." Mr. Allen does not seem to have lost any of his adeptness in the use of the sign language. He told of the origin and object of Bolshevism in a very clear, concise manner, throwing much light on the mooted subject. A rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Allen for the excellent manner in which he handled the subject.

A surprise was sprung upon Mrs. Thomas Markey, on March 3d, by some of young friends, to remind her of her natal day, and to wish her well. About twenty of her friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boutin, on Mission Ave., and Mrs. Markey, after much persuading, consented to go, supposedly to spend the evening there. She was greatly surprised to find a large number gathered there, and it took her some time to find out the object of it. The evening was very pleasantly spent with cards and games until near midnight. Mrs. Markey received some very nice presents.

Maurice Lindstrom, a newcomer from New York, employed in auto factories here, recently made a trip to his home, being called thither by the news that his brother-in-law was seriously ill with "flu," and later on died.

A card from Los Angeles, Calif., stated that Mr. and Mrs. Gibney met Harry Bristol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bristol, on the streets and had a chat.

"Bill" Hick met with a slight accident one day last week. An auto body on which he was working fell on his back. It laid him up for a couple of days.

Geo. F. Tripp recently built a garage in the rear of his house on West Court Street.

Harold Holmes was a visitor in over Sunday recently. He expressed a hope of returning to Flint. He is at present employed in the Reo factory at Lansing.

Mrs. Virgil Owen visited her sister in Grand Rapids, the first part of February, as the latter was to undergo another operation, which was successfully undertaken.

His lease expiring the first of December, forced Jacob Oberlin to buy a lot one block away and to erect a shoe repairing shop. Mr. Oberlin is now very nicely located in his new shop and is doing a very good business, with the assistance of Arthur Dasse. After a while Mr. Oberlin proposes to erect a modern store building on the site.

"Who is Who"—a photo guessing contest—is to be staged in the club rooms on Saturday evening, March 27th, for the benefit of the convention fund, and it promises to furnish a lot of curiosity and interest. Philip Schreiber, a most indefatigable member of the Committee, has charge of the affair.

George T. Ashley and William Lynch left for Saginaw this week, where they will work in an auto factory. Here's hoping they both will return to Flint ere long.

FREDERICK, MD.

Last Saturday the members of the Ely Literary Society were entertained with a six-act rip-roaring comedy, by the pupils of Miss Rachel's class, entitled "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." It was a treat to have seen the play, and had Harold Lloyd been there he would have blushed with envy to see Jay Shunk impersonating "Billy."

As attested by the laughter of the audience, the play was a big success.

A Washington birthday party was held in the Assembly Hall, on the evening of the 23d ult. Starting with the Grand March, which was led by Principal and Mrs. Bjorlee, the pupils then indulged in games and dancing. Before the party broke up ice-cream and cake were served. Much credit is due the committee, the Misses Young, Bittenbender, Farnam and Lewis, for their untiring efforts in making the party a success.

Last Saturday our basketball team motored to Washington, D. C., where they played the Reserves of Gallaudet College in a hot fought game, which resulted in a victory for the Collegians, 22 to 17.

Our boys had the opportunity of witnessing the big Gallaudet-Catholic University clash, which was won by the former.

The whole student body attended the Empire Theatre last Wednesday, where Longfellow's immortal poem, "Evangeline," was shown.

Saturday, February 28th, we had the pleasure of a visit from Mrs. G. Leitner, of Baltimore. She had the opportunity of seeing her daughter, Helen, participate in the play, "Mrs. Wiggs."

Rev. D. E. Moylan, of Baltimore, was a visitor at the school on Thursday.

Mr. J. A. Trundle, one of the oldest graduates of this school, visited his Alma Mater on the 5th inst. He was very much interested in the new museum, to which he has made various contributions.

The girls' basketball team continued their winning streak by defeating the heavy Y. W. C. A. Seniors of this city, by the score of 4 to 3.

This Saturday they will motor to Chambersburg, Pa., where they are scheduled to play a strong College team. Here's hoping they end the season undefeated.

A few words of information in a letter postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

H. A. D. NOTES.

Friday evening, March 12th, Rev. A. J. Amateau spoke, interestingly on the subject of "Self-Confidence." We were honored on the occasion with the presence of Mrs. George Rosenfeld, widow of the founder of the S. W. J. D. and the first President, also Mr. Norman N. Cohen, Honorary Secretary. This Friday evening, the 19th, Mr. Marous L. Kenner will discourse on "Loyalty and Service." All are cordially welcome.

Score another triumph for the "Motion Picture Night" which took place on Sunday evening, March 14th, before an audience of approximately four hundred persons. The first film to flash on the screen was "Red Cross Work" among the kiddies in the devastated countries of Europe.

"The Cure of an Acting Heart" and "Murder on the High Seas," by Mutt and Jeff, set the house grinning.

To the applause of the house, Miss Mildred Schram, the demure toe-artist, executed a classic act, termed a "Horse Dance." Switzerland—Home of the Swiss Cheese Factory—a comical play showing the evolution of cheese, came in for a goodly portion of rollicking laughter.

As soon as the lights blazed up, there was a general exodus to the "gym" below, where dancing and general chit-chat was in progress during the rest of the evening.

Our "Grand Old Man," President Abraham Erlanger of the S. W. J. D., was one of the interested spectators. We were all certainly glad to see him looking so hale and hearty.

The "Movie Nights" have evoked so much favorable comment and requests for "more!" that it is planned to have these given regularly twice a month, on the 2d and 4th Sunday evenings. The next one, in which it is expected to show a few other N. A. D. films, will be held on Sunday evening, March 28th.

Mrs. B. Buble, of Yonkers, N. Y., gave a luncheon on March 1st, in honor of Mrs. W. Buble, it being the occasion of her birthday. A dainty luncheon was served. The table decorations were in green and white, and as a souvenir of the occasion each guest friend a small wrapper, tied with green satin ribbon, which on being opened disclosed the well-known features of Mrs. W. Buble, which will be treasured. Mrs. B. served the lunch, assisted by her aunt, Miss Shields. The menu consisted of chicken soup, chicken salad, olives, cheese and crackers, ice-cream, cake and coffee. A large birthday cake surrounded by five lighted candles was placed near Mrs. W. Buble to cut and serve. Mrs. W. Buble was seated at the head of the table, and the bright rays of sunshine shone full over her like a benediction. A few words were spoken by Miss S. Howard and Miss Berley, wishing our friend every blessing in coming years. Besides Mrs. B. Buble and Miss E. Shields, the guests entertained were: Mrs. W. Buble, Mrs. M. L. Haight, Mrs. A. Barnes, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. C. C. McMann, Mrs. W. Thomas, Miss Solomon, Miss E. Nelson, Mr. J. Howard, Miss S. C. Howard and Miss Gussie Berley.

Miss Sadie Marcus, who is engaged to be married to Mr. Ben Abrams, was given a surprise party at Miss Beatrice Osserman's house, at 805 St. Michael Avenue, on Saturday afternoon, March 13th.

The girls present were: Mrs. S. Gargon, Mrs. J. Rothheim, Mrs. E. Nelson, Misses Selma and Florence Frankenthaler, Lillie Ganz, Leah Granowitz, Bertha Kranzer, and Rebecca Halpern.

Miss Marcus, who was kept in ignorance of the plan of her friends and was brought to Miss Osserman's house under some pretence, was very much surprised, when she finally was led into the dining-room where she was met by her friends with a great outburst of congratulations. All her friends joined in presenting the bride-to-be with a kitchen shower consisting of aluminum and pyrex ware.

They all enjoyed a pleasant afternoon, and it lasted until close on to 11 P.M. in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barnett gave a birthday party in honor of his wife, Celia, on Sunday, March 14th. She received some handsome presents. Among those who attended were: Abe Hirsch, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Chaimowitz and Mr. Leibsohn.

Mr. Alex. L. Pach is back at his Broadway Photograph Studio, after ten days pleasantly passed in Florida. While in St. Augustine he was the guest of Dr. Albert H. Walker, President of the Florida Institution.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Barry, on the 12th of March, weighing nine pounds. He will be named Alfred Clark Barry. Mother and child doing well.

The stork made a call at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eberhardt on Thursday, March 11th, and left a seven-pound baby girl. Mother and child getting along well.

Jack Seltzer spent the week-end in Philadelphia, whither he went to attend a wedding.

NO GAME

The basket ball court at St. Ann's Church is still unpleasantly moist, so there will be no game on March 20th, as advertised.

IOWA.

One Friday evening, recently, Mr. Leo Holway gave an interesting lecture to the pupils' Literary Society at the Iowa School, about Edison and Electricity. This was followed by a clever little playlet in three scenes. The first scene showed a family circle and the son preparing to leave for college. The second scene was in the student's room at college. The third shows his return home. His mother, after a while takes a Bible from his suitcase. "Did you read your Bible," she asks. "Yes," replied the son.

The mother opens it and shows him a crisp new greenback. Curtain.

Mrs. R. E. Stewart, who remained in Council Bluffs and Omaha for about two weeks after her husband's death, has gone back to the Kansas School, where she has been acting as matron. Mrs. E. F. Long has been appointed to temporarily take charge of the late Mr. Stewart's classes.

In honor of Washington's Birthday, there was a dance at the Iowa School, on February 21st. An orchestra from town furnished music, and there were games arranged for those who did not dance. The smaller children had a party on the afternoon of the previous day.

The basket ball season is at its height, and almost every evening, after study there is a game in the gymnasium.

The girls' and boys' basket ball teams of the Nebraska School for the Deaf with probably half a hundred student rooters came across the river the night of February 18th, to play with the Iowa School teams. The Iowa girls' team, displaying superb teamwork, had little difficulty in winning their game, 18 to 3.

The rivalry between boys' teams of the two schools is very keen. Nebraska assumed the lead, which at times during the first half was threatened. The score at the half-way point stood 14 to 10. Nebraska leading. The Iowa boys were unable to keep up the pace set by the Nebraskans, and at the close of the game, the score was 33 to 15.

The coach of the Iowa boys is Mr. Carl Wear, and of the girls Miss Effie Wesen. Mr. Kepp is the coach of the Nebraska boys, and Miss Kuta of the girls. The two Iowa teams are going over to play at the Nebraska School, on March 12th.

Edward Humphreys, Emil and Gus Valentine, all of Sioux City, Iowa, were visitors at the Iowa School, on Sunday, February 29th. They had been in Omaha the previous evening, attending the Frat masquerade.

A combined Lincoln and Washington program was given in the chapel, Friday morning. An interesting program, including spelling, oral recitation, biography, dialogue, etc., ended with a Pledge to the Flag by all.

Mr. Ora Blanchard, of Omaha, having a holiday, on February 29d, came over and was an interested visitor to many of the class rooms.

A Suggestion

ED. JOURNAL.—Apropos of the case of Jacques Cohen, in the March 4th number of the JOURNAL, not to mention the trouble experienced by the French delegates to the Hartford Convention, why don't the deaf of Akron, O., get together and persuade the Goodyear and Firestone Companies to buttonhole Uncle Sam and try to get a ruling admitting all educated deaf as freely, other things being equal, as hearing people? Uncle would be apt to listen respectfully to firms of the standing of the two above mentioned, where he would fretfully brush us small fry aside, with the injunction not to bother him when he is busy.

F. R. GRAY.

The swiftest dog in the world, the Russian wolfhound, has made record runs that show twenty-four yards to the second, while the gazelle has shown measured speed of more than twenty seven yards a second.

One of the most curious means of communication is the drum language of a tribe in the Congo. These people can by this means converse with each other at considerable distances.

OHIO.

[News items for this column may be sent to our Ohio News Bureau, care of Mr. A. B. Greener, 928 Franklin Ave., Columbus, O.]

March 13, 1920—Superintendent Jones has been publishing in the Ohio Chronicle a series of reminiscences of his twenty-five years' service as head of the school. In his last one he speaks of his greatest obstacle to overcome. It is good reading and advice to those heads of schools for deaf who are troubled with this baneful influence, and is hence worth sowing broadcast.

Some years before Mr. Jones became the Superintendent, the politicians had the state institutions at their mercy. Male officers, teachers and employees, were assessed a certain amount each year for election purposes, with a threat held up "pay or get out," and naturally most of the threatened ones shelled out.

In 1912, when the Board of Administration came into existence, a law, also prohibiting assessments, as well as paying them, under pain of fines and imprisonment, also was passed. This marked the end of politics in the state institutions. And for this change the people of the State are indebted to Judson Harmon, for he was the then Governor and insisted upon the change.

Rev. Mr. Spellman, a missionary of Siam, Asia, gave an address to the pupils at the chapel service, Tuesday morning, in which he depicted the manners, customs, and habits of living, of natives. The address was very interesting and heartily appreciated. Rev. Utten Read interpreted it. Yesterday morning at the chapel service two Akron visitors made addresses—Messrs. Russell M. Moore, Gallaudet Normal, '15, and formerly a teacher in the Tennessee School and Mr. Clarence "Chet" Yon. The latter is head of the Goodyear Flying Squadron. Both gentlemen came down to make an observation of the school and its work. Both praised the work of the deaf at the Akron Rubber Plants and more are wanted.

Mr. Moore advised the pupils who had an eye on Akron or work not to give up their studies in order to secure the almighty dollar, because high wages were held out, but to remain and complete their full course; the better their education the higher the pay would come to them. The Company does not want boys and girls who cut short their school time. Another thing Mr. Moore has observed among the deaf there is the lack of courage when they begin their work there. They should throw off their timidity, forget self, and go ahead with the one view of being successful. The Company has started a school and is spending thousands of dollars to give their employees (deaf included) a better education. Mr. Yon spoke of his department. He has a number of deaf under him and all are giving satisfaction. He brought messages of regards to officers, teachers and pupils, from a number of Ohio boys at the plant. Mr. Moore stated he had frequently heard of Superintendent Jones and Dr. Patterson spoken of by the deaf in Akron, and pictured them as old men with slow step, wrinkled faces; but was surprised upon their visit to Akron to find them so healthy and vigorous looking. Indeed it was difficult for him to keep up with them in their tramp over the plant.

Both gentlemen visited the different departments of the school and were highly impressed and pleased with all. They returned to Akron Saturday.

Mr. Peter Gillooly is rejoicing over a ten percent raise of his wages, and a ten percent bonus of his annual earnings from the Tin Company he works for. He now stands at the head of the payroll as to wages. Moreover, the Company now considers the deaf less liable to accidents than the hearing.

Mrs. Annie Callison, in charge of the girls' sewing room, was summoned to Zanesville by the severe illness of her father. Death took him Monday, and the funeral took place Wednesday. Her many friends sympathize with her in bereavement.

Rev. Utten Read left this morning for Indianapolis to be in attendance at the Indiana Home Association for the Aged and Infirmed Deaf meeting in the afternoon. He is an officer of the Association.

In the evening he will give his reading, "The Wrestler of Philippi," which he delivered before the Advance Society here last week, to the pupils of the Indiana School.

Sunday morning at 10 A. M. he will preach a sermon at the Meridian St. M. E. Church, and in the afternoon conduct a service for the teachers and pupils in the chapel of the Institution for the Deaf.

Mrs. Warren Whitacre, of Cuyahoga, Ohio, has been at School for some time with her son, Marron, who has been sick with pneumonia but is now convalescing. She will remain till he has recovered entirely. Mrs. Florence Kinney, who lives near her, came along with her, but left last Monday for her home.

Dr. Patterson is to be in Toledo Saturday, March 20th, and deliver in the evening, at Kapp's Hall, a lecture for the benefit of the Home. His subject will be Altruism.

Rev. C. W. Charles held service last Sunday in Trinity Chapel and had a large congregation. He administered the rite of Baptism to Messrs. C. Neuner, James Ward and Mrs. Emma Fortner, all of this city.

CHICAGO.

The members of the Pas-a-Pas Club were delightfully inspired by "A Few Lights," which Mrs. Hasenstab kindly illuminated on Saturday night, February 28th. She related quite a number of interesting stories and anecdotes, in a burst of glowing rhetoric, for an hour, without the use of notes.

The lecture over, Dr. Dougherty mounted the platform and said that Mrs. Hasenstab's talk reminded him of the "Light of Asia," written by Sir Edwin Arnold, and that it was wonderful and interesting, describing Buddhism, which three hundred millions of inhabitants of Asia, India, and Japan still worship.

The Committee of the Pas-a-Pas Club, who has been hunting for a larger and more commodious hall for two months, has finally decided to take one, containing over one thousand square feet, at 61 Monroe Street. Full particulars later.

The brilliant Leap Year dance, which the members of the Silent Athletic Club gave on Saturday night, February 28th, was a great success.

It is reported that over three hundred dollars were made by the sale of tickets, refreshments, root beer and candies. It is evident that the active and loyal members are doing their very best to reduce the mortgage of the club house in every way possible. An architect, who inspected the building one day, declared that it was valued at $50,000 and congratulated the members upon their great luck in purchasing it so cheap!

The Oral Saturday Evening Club, composed of only twenty members, meets at one of their homes every month. It held its monthly social at Mrs. Armory's residence February 28th.

The members of the Pas-a-Pas Club have engaged the Silent Athletic Club for their annual reception and dance on Saturday, April 10th, at 8 o'clock P. M. Tickets, 35 cents, including War Tax.

The Committee of entertainment will be greatly pleased to have every one come and enjoy a good time—to help swell the high rent fund.

Mrs. Barr gave a noon luncheon at her daughter's residence, in honor of Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. Hasenstab and Mrs. Gibney. Mrs. Dawson is a native of Indiana and is visiting with her daughter and friends at Chicago.

Mrs. Barr's son, who recently returned home from France, will probably give a talk on Saturday evening, March 20th. At the same time the members of the Methodist Church mission will give a reception in honor of Mrs. C. C. Buchanan, who is to leave for Wichita, Kansas, March 28th. She will be gone several months or a year.

Palmer Spalding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spalding and nephew of Mrs. James Gibney, was privately married to Miss Lottie Dilligan, on Saturday, and the happy couple are enjoying their honeymoon at her home in Indiana.

Palmer is employed at the big-gest packing house of Swift Co. He was sent to France by the Co. during the World's War, to assist in distributing the meats to the U. S. Armies.

The wife of a sailor, who lost his hearing in the Navy, is seeking a divorce in court, because he can not hear at all. She said: "It ain't any fun living with a man who can't hear what you say to him." Charlie used to ask her to write out her remarks, but she refused. He said he wanted to live with his wife, because he loved her very much. The judges agreed that he should support her, but said to her: "I have no sympathy for you and your difficulties. You took this man for better or worse, and when he came back to you in this pitiable state, you turn from him." The woman is no patriot.

The writer has consented to give a talk on Mexico, at the Pas-a-Pas Club, on Saturday evening, March 27th.

TEXAS.

There is an old adage to the effect that coming events cast their shadow, has a rather peculiar effect, especially upon us. The Coming Events in question, being the Dallas Division, 63, N. F. S. D.'s Big Banquet, which Chief Talbot and his associates are planning to spread on the night of April 24th. Will we be there? We'll say we will. We got a good look at the menu the other day, and that's where shadow stuff comes in; our mouth has been watering so bad for a chance at that feed, that we feel like somebody would do us a favor if they would chloroform us until the night of the banquet, so we would not suffer so much with the thinking of it. That the spread will be a success goes without questioning, seeing as Old Leo, himself, king of 'em all, is the chairman of the Banquet Committee, (How about dropping in for a bite, Ed?)

That hustling young Secretary of the Frat has shown that he is a worthy citizen of Dallas, all right. Only last week he went out and purchased a beautiful six-room bungalow, and presented it to the madam, as a wedding anniversary gift. Mr. Elmer Diaz, by the way, is the secretary's name, and he has shown himself to be a royal good one, since taking over office last January.

B. "Pop." Allison, however, says Elmer hasn't a thing on him, even if he is an old man. He says he still has young ideas, so he follows in Diaz's footsteps and purchased a home for himself and Mrs. Allison. That's the right spirit "Pop," but next time don't let the young fellows show you up, beat them to it.

Miss Adalee Abadie, a graduate of the Texas School for the Deaf, returned to Texas last week, after spending the past year in Bradley College in Peoria, Ill. Miss Abadie, completed her course in Bradley College, and then worked for a while in one of Peoria's leading jewelry stores, until she was satisfied that she was ready to go out in the world and fight her own battles, then she proceeded to do just what we wanted her to do, and that to pack her trunk and hit the trail back for Texas.

Owing to the illness of her father, who was in El Paso, Adalee was unable to stop off either in Dallas or in Austin, but we hope that later after she gets settled down she will pay her friends in each place a visit.

She has already opened up a shop in El Paso, Texas, and has the leading jewelry stores in that town as her customers. Miss Abadie is a jewelry engraver of no mean ability, and should any of the deaf desire a good job done, then they ought to give her a chance and ship their wedding rings, watches and what-nots to her in El Paso.

We all hope that Adalee will be successful with her new trade and have lots to do, and seeing as she is the only deaf girl, engraver in the State, if not in the U. S., she deserves the world of credit and ought to make good.

Clifton "Slim Jim" Seale, dropped in on Dallas rather unexpectedly one Sunday not long ago, and as usual let nobody know he was coming, but just dropped in, then went right off to the farm again, without stopping to talk things over with the rest of us. Say "Slim," if you ever drop in on this town again without coming up to see your old pals, I am going to come down to the farm after you and give you a good beating. "IF I CAN GET SOMEBODY TO HELP ME."

Rules and Regulations Committee of the "Dallas Silent Literary Society" held a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allison, one day last week, for the purpose of making a constitution and fixing up the rules and by-laws of the organization. Mr. E. Diaz and W. K. Gibson, were both unable to attend, but sent in suggestions, which were adopted by the committee, consisting of Miss M. McDaniel, Gallaudet, ex-'21, Mrs. Allison, and Messrs. Fee Griggs, Clifton Talbot, "Pop," Allison, and "Jeky" Hill, Gallaudet, ex-'21. The Society meets on the third Saturday night of every month, and has quite a large number of members enrolled.

The Akron Fever continues to roll over the far cold wastes of the Northland right down into good old Tex., and of course the Texas Silents bear and heed the call to Rubberville. Joe Pulliam was the man to bear and to heed the call. There are lots of others who would gladly heed the call, if they only dared, and others that would if they only could.

Hardy Dugger, of San Antonio, has at last succeeded in landing a job, after being laid off for three months by his firm. Hardy will no doubt hit the trail for Akron in a few more weeks.

Grover Morgan, who has been employed in the Government Service every since the winter of 1917, has decided to quit working for Uncle Sam, and go back to his old trade. He recently made a visit to Waco, and received such a flattering offer in one of the shops there, that he has decided to throw his Uncle down and grab the place. Go to it, Grover, but next time look up Dallas before you decide to jump, because, you know, old Scout, there's more than one good swimmer's hole in the old creek.

Mr. Louis Buecherl, for many years secretary to Superintendent Urbantke, at the school in Austin, is employed by the Atlantic Oil Company, here in Dallas, and often mingles with his old friends from T. S. D. to talk over old time at school.

Jack Miller and Halbert Webb, both took a run over to Dallas, last Sunday, from Ft. Worth, and both of them have about decided to move over, on account of the many advantages to be had in Dallas, which Cowtown does not afford.

Mr. Frank Antrey has forsaken his old home, Waco, and moved to progressive Dallas, where he is now employed as press feeder in the Eagan Printery, where Wilkerson is employed. More deaf are coming to Dallas every day, but none leave.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Allison's daughter, from Chicago, was home on a visit last week, and visited Sunday School last Sunday afternoon.

She gave a talk on her experience in Chicago, during the latest epidemic of Flu., and had a good deal to say, as she was a nurse and had first-hand knowledge of some of the worst cases.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Miss Ollie Wilkerson wishes to announce the engagement of her friend and room-mate, Miss Irene Neal, to Mr. W. K. Gibson.

Both Mr. Gibson and Miss Neal are employed in Dallas at present. Mr. Gibson being a chemist for the Texas Portland Company, and Miss Neal being a bookbinder in the Wilkinson Printery.

Miss Neal is a graduate of the Oklahoma School for the Deaf, and took post-graduate work in the Texas School, in anticipation of going to Gallaudet College, but somehow her plans fell through; but according to Gibby, it's a good thing she changed her mind about it.

Wallace K. Gibson is a native of Illinois and a graduate of Gallaudet College, of the Class of 1918. He came to Dallas last summer from Denver, Colorado, where he held a similar position to the one he now holds down, and since coming to Dallas, has made himself extremely popular by his pleasant manners and good fellowship.

The entire Dallas Colony extend to Miss Neal and Mr. Gibson their heartiest good wishes, and hope that they will always be happy and will continue to make their home in Dallas after their marriage, which is scheduled to take place in May.

Well, I've said Enuff?
Because I'm nothin' but Bluff,
And according to the rooster.
Who is also a Booster,
Cock-a-doodle-doo—
Which means,
That's enough from you;
"BEN HUR."

MUTE PUGILIST MARRIES

John J. Kuhn, more frequently known as "Dummy" Ketchell, the local boxer, and Miss Marie Ellen Matthews of Taylor's Island, Dorchester County, were married February 1, in the rectory of St. Peter's Catholic Church, by Rev. M. A. Partell, spiritual adviser of the Catholic deaf of Baltimore.

Announcement of the wedding came as a surprise to all but relatives and a few intimate friends of the couple. It culminated a romance which began at the Maryland School for the Deaf in Frederick, where both were students. Kuhn recently was in a street car accident, and while he was laid up Miss Matthews visited him.

Mr. Kuhn now is walking with a cane, and expects to be entirely recovered from his accident in a short time.—Baltimore News, Feb. 1.

FANWOOD.

On the evening of March 13th, Prof. Smith gave an interesting lecture on the biography of Foch, the great French General, before the members of the Fanwood Literary Association.

Our former 1st Vice-President, Allen G. Cattanch wound up the evening by relating some incidents, that occurred among the boys lately.

After a long winter's rest, the companies formed into A, B and C, started drill on Monday, in the boys' sitting room. Owing to the condition of the parade ground, the boys were forced to practice manual arms drill indoors.

Mr. George Gompers, the Physical and Military Instructor of the Deaf, Trenton, N. J., and his friend dropped in to see Lieutenant Frank Lux on business the other day.

After a lapse of five years, Miss Jessie Garrick was the recipient of a letter from a deaf friend and former companion, residing in Scotland.

We are glad to learn our old friend, Colonel Elmore F. Austin, who for many years has reviewed the cadet battalion and with the assistance of his staff acted as judge on Members' Day, has resumed his old post as commander of the 8th Regiment Coast Artillery, National Guard.

Colonel Austin for a long time before the beginning of the war was in charge of this regiment, but when hostilities began, he with his command, were mustered into Federal Service. The unit after serving abroad was demobilized. The 8th regiment above mentioned was organized during the absence of the old outfit.

Principal Gardner left for Albany Sunday night, to attend to legislative matters pertaining to the Institution.

Prof. Smith, who has been ill with the flu, has returned to his duties. Having suffered with this malady three times, Prof. Smith feels that fate has indeed been unkind.

Dr. Leale, Chairman of the Committee of Instruction of the Board of Directors, paid us a very pleasant call on Tuesday.

The advantages of electricity were demonstrated this week by the use of the current used for the lights in the gymnasium. The gym mats, which are generally taken out on the lawn and beaten by the yard men, could not, on account of the condition of the grounds, be cleaned in the usual manner. Therefore a vacuum cleaner was hitched on to the electroliner and now the mats are cleaner than ever they were.

The pupils were measured for new uniforms on Monday and Tuesday or last week.

Great enthusiasm was displayed by the cadets last Sunday morning, when Mr. Frank M. Nimmo exhibited in the Boys' Study Room the military and athletic trophies which are to be competed for at the 22d Regiment Armory, on the evening of April 17th.

Wm. Stokley special chef for the pupils and domestics, in addition to his valuable services to the gastronomic Department of the Institution, has taken part in many cross-country relay, and other races, and as an evidence of his superiority over his rivals he has numerous trophies which he proudly exhibits.

On Fridays of each week crowds of students are grouped about the gymnasium, watching others performing on the trapeze, the horizontal bars, the swinging rings and a dozen other exercises.

Over in the center of the room, a great mat was spread upon the floor, and two perspiring, red-faced youths were wrestling and thrashing about over it.

Mrs. Mary E. Stockbower, the Principal's smiling secretary, celebrated her stuth birthday last Saturday all day. Being quite a favorite, her relatives and many friends deluged her with flowers and numerous substantial presents.

Mr. Emil Hollander, until recently the Institution Assistant Book-keeper, paid us a visit on Wednesday last. He looks well and is very happy in his new work, the nature of which his friends will probably be interested to know. Mr. Hollander is aspiring to become a missionary, and has entered the Church of God Missionary Home in the Bronx to start his training. The writer is confident that the good wishes of all who came into contact with Mr. Hollander during his sojourn at the Institution will follow him into his new field of labor.

Mr. Geo. B. Lloyd, a teacher New Jersey State School for Deaf at Trenton, was a visitor on Monday.

Mr. Lyman Steed, Principal at the Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, Institution was a visitor on Tuesday.

Legal ballots 293
Illegal ballots 10
Dues unpaid 9

Too late to record 1

Total ballots sent in 314

The illegal ballots were rendered void by the fact that they contained the names of two or more nominees from the same State, contrary to the law governing the primary.

Notification has been sent by the Secretary to the nominees, asking them if they will stand for election, and for which office, if they are nominated for more than one.

It should be noted that by amendment to the mail vote law at Hartford, two or more candidates from the same State may contest for election on the final ballot.

As soon as the Secretary receives replies from the nominees, the regular ballot will be made up. Announcement of the candidates will be made in these columns as soon as possible.

The regular election ballots will be mailed to members not later than April 14, 1920.

Owing to the poor postal service in some localities, and the fact that members often fail to notify the Secretary of change of address, some may not receive their ballots. If you have moved, let the Secretary know it, giving both the old and the new address.

MRS. WOODHOUSE DEAD.

Mrs. Woodhouse (nee Annie Maria Whelan), estimable wife of William Wilson Woodhouse, passed away at St. Luke's Hospital, Cleveland, Ohio, Wednesday, February 11th, 4:45 P.M., after a serious illness of eight weeks, though her health had been failing for several months.

The immediate cause of her death was due to heart trouble. The remains were taken to St. Agnes Church, where a high mass was offered by three priests, and then she was laid to rest in Calvary Cemetery, Cleveland.

A very beautiful decorated basket with twenty-four American beauty roses was given by a neighbor of Mrs. Woodhouse. A large wreath was placed on the casket by Mrs. Woodhouse's brother, of the Amalgamated Lithographer's Union.

Mrs. Woodhouse leaves a husband and a son and two sisters, Miss Harriet J. Whelan and Mrs. Wm. Hayes, of Philadelphia, Pa., to mourn her loss.

The deceased emigrated to Philadelphia, Pa., thirty years ago, where she joined her sister, Mrs. Hayes. She was graduated from the St. Mary's Cebra, Dublin, Ireland.

Mrs. Woodhouse's father was the only locomotive engineer in Dublin, Ireland who always received a warrant from the royal authorities. He used to carry the royal family to Ireland from England.

Mr. Woodhouse, the husband of the deceased, is said to be the only deaf-mute lithograph prover and transfer in America. He was graduated from the Claremont, Dublin, Ireland, School, and apprenticed for seven years in the lithographic business in Dublin, Ireland.

Mr. Fred Wedekind, one of the pallbearers, who is also a deaf-mute, is said to be the only poster lithograph color artist in America.

Mrs. Harriet J. Whelan was in constant attendance at her sister's bedside at the hospital for six weeks, until the end came.

Mrs. Woodhouse was a faithful and devout Catholic woman. She is sadly missed by a wide circle of friends, who were wont to enjoy her pleasant smile.
